

Long Standing Payroll Bureau User Heaps Praise on Keytime

A long standing Keytime Payroll Bureau user has praised the software and the support service after 20 years of satisfied processing.

Danny Tuchband has been an accountant for over 40 years and turned to an early version of Keytime Payroll Bureau software in 1988 to help his London practice D. Tuchband & Co. processes 300 wages, which he previously had to do manually.

Over the years Keytime has provided regular software updates, with support, advice and training for the Payroll Bureau product and D. Tuchband & Co, located near to the new Wembley stadium, has become a very satisfied customer.

Now, two decades later, the practice is utilising the latest version of Keytime Payroll Bureau, which combines user-friendly features with high performance speed and benefits including –

- User-friendly functionality and production of multi-company payslips
- Updates for multi-company parameters instantly
- Automatically updates tax codes through every company
- Runs reports from previous periods or years – including payslips
- Batch entry of variable data

“When we purchased our first PC towards the end of the 1980’s we were recommended to use the early version of this software and we have stuck with it and all of the updates ever since,” says Danny Tuchband.

“In the early stages we needed a lot of guidance as we had always previously done everything manually and in recent years, when it has been required, Keytime has provided the necessary assistance and training at our offices as the software has been modified.

“Keytime Payroll Bureau is very easy to use and we have got it honed down to our own particular requirements now. It runs exactly how we want it and it gives us maximum efficiency to process around 150 wages every month for our clients.

“We get through the wages very quickly and then supply the relevant data to our clients or to other accountants for audit purposes.

“After building up an excellent relationship with the Keytime staff over the years we would not wish to change to any other payroll bureau software provider and would certainly recommend the product and company to other practices.”

To find out how your practice can enhance efficiency with Keytime Payroll Bureau and for further information about the software please call 0845 456 3103.